The Employee Experience

At JTI, we believe in freedom; the freedom to choose, freedom of thought, freedom of expression, and freedom to be yourself.

We think that the possibilities are limitless when you're free.

Every new advance we make as a company stems from a desire to give consumers the widest possible range of high-quality experiences and we have been creating new and better products for our consumers to choose from. But our business, isn't just business. It is about our people. Their talent, their potential. We believe that when they're free to be themselves, grow and develop, amazing things can happen for our business and for wider community, to which we rely on, work with and contribute with the help of our JTI volunteers.

That's why our approach to sustainability is not only focused on encouraging us to make the right decisions for our company, but also for our people, our suppliers, our customers, society while preserving natural resources.

All these are reasons why our employees around the world choose to be part of JTI and 9 out of 10 would recommend us to a friend. So when you are ready to choose a career you will love in a company you will love, feel free to #join the idea!
